DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-16, drawn to use of an inhibitor of cell development in a controlled manner to maintain the non-differentiated state of stem cells while allowing their cell division and a process for multiplication of stem cells in a culture medium.

Group II, claim(s) 17, drawn to the use of non-differentiated and amplified human stem cells to reconstitute human blood and/or human solid tissues or organs.

The inventions listed as Groups I-II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The inventions listed as Groups I and II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special features for the following reasons: 37 CFR 1.475 (b) states that:

Unity of Invention between different categories of inventions will only be found to exist if specific combinations of inventions are present. Those combinations include:

- 1) A product and a special process of manufacture of said product
- 2) A product and a process of use of said product
- 3) A product, a special process of manufacture of said product, and a process of use of said product

Art Unit: 1632

4) A process and an apparatus specially designed to carry out said process

5) A product, a special process of manufacture of said product, and an apparatus specially designed to carry out said process.

The allowed combinations do not include multiple products, multiple methods of using said products, and methods of making multiple products as claimed in the instant invention.

37 CFR 1.475 (c) states that:

“If an application contains claims to more or less than one of the combination of categories of invention set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, unity of invention might not be present.”

37 CFR 1.475 (d) states:

“If multiple products, processes of manufacture or uses are claimed, the first invention of the category first mentioned in the claims of the application and the first recited invention of each other categories related thereto will be considered as the main invention in the claims, see PCT Article 17(3)(a) and 1.476(c).”

37 CFR 1.475(e) states:

“The determination whether a group of inventions is so linked as to form a single general inventive concept shall be made without regard to whether the inventions are claimed in separate claims or as alternative within a single claim.”

In view of 37 CFR (b)-(e), Group I is considered the main invention to the product first mentioned in the claims, and the first recited invention drawn to other categories related thereto.

Group I and II are drawn to multiple distinct products that do not share the same inventive concept. The claimed invention of Group I, use of an inhibitor of cell development in a controlled manner to maintain the non-differentiated state of stem cells while allowing their cell division and a process for multiplication of stem cells in a culture medium recites distinct materials and/or method steps from the claim invention of Group II, use of non-differentiated and amplified human stem cells to reconstitute human blood and/or human solid tissues or organs, and thus lack the same or corresponding special technical feature.

Species Election

Should Group I be elected, restriction is further required under 35 USC 372.

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

- (a) Stem cells
  - i) Embryonic stem cells at the origin of somatic stem cells
  - ii) Stem cells/somatic progenitors at the origin of blood or solid tissues

- (b) Inhibitors of cell development
  - i) Products of genes which control cell development with respect to cell differentiation or cell division
  - ii) Inhibitors of cycline-dependent kinases
  - iii) Factors which control apoptosis or aging
  - iv) Cytokines

Note that the inhibitors of cell development do not appear to share a common structure, as the specification indicates that these inhibitors can be genes, proteins, etc, therefore these inhibitors are found to be patentably distinct. See p. 3. Therefore, it would be an undue burden on the examiner to search all inhibitors of cell development.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Claims 1-16 [Group I] correspond to the species of (a) and (b).

The following claim(s) are generic: 1, 4, 5, 6, 8, 9, 11, 13, 15 and 16.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the species of (a) the ES cells and somatic stem cells do not share a common structure, and the species of (b) do not appear to share a common structure, as the specification indicates that these inhibitors can be genes, proteins, etc.
